EVENT & SPEAKERS

Join us in the iconic Banqueting Suite at Edgbaston for an exclusive World Cup dinner featuring England's group-stage clash with Ghana on our giant screen. Guests will enjoy a refined three-course dinner in sporting surroundings, with exceptional sightlines to the action from all areas of the room. The evening features expert interview and match analysis from three legends of Midlands football and former England internationals: Gareth Barry, Matthew Upson, and Steve Bull. With unrivalled insight, candid stories, and tactical perspective, the panel is sure to captivate guests with some cracking stories from their careers with some of the Midlands' biggest clubs. The event is hosted by Sky Sports presenter David Fulton, ensuring a polished, engaging evening, ideal for entertaining clients and colleagues.

ENGLAND V GHANA

The Three Lions face a crucial second group match against a dangerous Ghana side, with major implications for both teams' tournament prospects. England boast a high-quality squad led by captain Harry Kane, supported by world-class talents including Bukayo Saka, Declan Rice, Jude Bellingham and Phil Foden, alongside impressive depth throughout the team. Ghana are also well equipped, featuring Premier League standouts Antoine Semenyo and Mohammed Kudus, former Arsenal midfielder Thomas Partey, and La Liga star Iñaki Williams. With so much at stake on the biggest stage in international football, this promises to be a compelling contest!

GARETH BARRY

A product of Brighton's youth system, Gareth Barry is one of the most accomplished players of the Premier League era, spending the majority of his career at Aston Villa, where he made 441 appearances, scoring 52 goals. A model of consistency, he later won the FA Cup and Premier League with Manchester City before influential stints at Everton and West Bromwich Albion. Gareth holds the Premier League record for appearances, with an astonishing 653 matches under his belt. Renowned for his intelligence and positional discipline, he earned 53 England caps between 2000 and 2012, representing the Three Lions at major international tournaments and serving as a dependable figure across multiple England squads.

MATTHEW UPSON

After a youth career with Luton Town, Matthew built a distinguished career as a central defender, with a four year stint at Arsenal, before signing for Birmingham City, where he became a key figure and club captain. He also played for Reading, West Ham United, Stoke City and Brighton HA, where he won player of the year, making 462 senior club appearances, scoring 16 goals. Known for his composure, leadership and aerial strength, Matthew won 21 caps for England, scoring 2 goals and was part of the squad at the 2010 FIFA World Cup, memorably scoring England's against Germany in the last-16 match. Since retiring he has featured as a pundit on the BBC's World Cup coverage.

STEVE BULL

Steve Bull is a Midlands football icon and Wolverhampton Wanderers' greatest ever goalscorer. He spent the vast majority of his career at Wolves, scoring an extraordinary 306 goals in 561 appearances and spearheading their rise from the old Fourth Division to the First Division. Despite playing his club football at Molineux outside the top tier, Bull earned 13 England caps, scoring four international goals. A prolific, instinctive striker, he remains synonymous with Wolves and Midlands football, and is widely regarded as one of the most lethal English finishers of his generation, revered at Molineux to this day.
